About The Foundation

The Martha C. Gooding Foundation for Compassionate Nursing is a 501(c) (3) organization established by Martha's family and friends to honor Martha's 39-year career in critical care nursing through the funding of nursing scholarships for students committed to providing patient focused compassionate nursing care and through the education and training of students and nurses on the importance of non-clinical aspects of patient care. The Foundation in its ten years has funded sixty-one (61) nursing scholarships and has established permanent endowed scholarships at the University of Texas at Austin School of Nursing and the UT Health School of Nursing in Houston
